DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

IMPEACHMENT—COMMENTS OF THE PRESS—WASHINGTON GOSSIP, &c.

Speaking of the postponement of the vote until to-day, (Saturday,) the New York Herald says:

"This adjournment is until Saturday, but it is not likely that the vote on the President's guilt will be weaker on Saturday than on Tuesday. Moreover, the Chicago Convention is appointed for Wednesday next, and somebody will be ill enough to justify the Senate in deferring the verdict that might put Ben Wade into the Presidential chair until it is determined whether Wade or another is to be the party candidate for the regular succession. There will be a great making up of political slates between this and Saturday, and the character of these may even determine whether or no impeachment is not done with forever. It has been shown that the faction which claimed to rule the republican party has not the power it pretended; and if that faction has been taught any modesty by its failure—if it accepts the result and takes to obscurity—impeachment may die away like any other nine days wonder, only standing in our history to warn factions against striking at those very foundations of the government that have the respect of the whole people, without regard to individual shortcomings. But if the extreme radicals will carry the fight to the death—if they are not content to view the possibility of a great new party crystalizing around the men who opposed impeachment—if they still believe that this trial affords them an opportunity to affect the Chicago Convention "by concussion," we may yet see. Butler bottled up in the Senate more effectually than he was at Bermuda Hundred, with several specimens in vials of the same size."

The New York World, of Wednesday, says:

"Had the vote been taken yesterday, in pursuance of the previous arrangement, the impeachment gun would have exploded in the hands attempting to discharge it.—When the impeachers made this discovery, they were seized with sudden consternation, and tried to make the charge burn out by a slow, oozing fizzle through an adjournment. The pretext for this adjournment was the illness of Senator Howard, but the real reason was the certainty that impeachment is a "lost cause." Senator Howard's vote would not have saved it; but the adjournment to Saturday carried an appearance as if it might, and appearances have become of vital consequence to the impeachers since they can save nothing else. On Saturday it will be equally easy to procure a statement from Mr. Howard's physician that he is still too feeble to attend and vote, and the reason will be equally good for a still further postponement. The Chicago Convention meets next week; and as things now look, the vote will not be taken until after the Convention adjourns. The foregone certainty that the President will be acquitted, renders such procrastination expedient lest this ignominious defeat should operate as a wet blanket upon the assembled delegates. Thus Gen. Butler's "railroad speed" is suddenly arrested, in consequence of the unexpected discovery that the train is nearing an open drawbridge with a fearful chasm below. It is certain to go over and plunge into the abyss; but they hope the destruction will be less horrible if they can move for a few rods at a slackened speed.

The spasmodic rage of the foiled impeachers attests the fatal severity of the blow.—A gang of pirates, when they see their ship going to wreck, give vent to despairing curses. The disappointed Radicals seem to be emulating some such example. Signs of contrition and the singing of a penitential psalm before their voices are hushed in the engulphing waves, would be more decent and becoming, but inveterate habits are not easily changed, and so we have a new illustration of "the ruling passion strong in death." To rave and vituperate has been so constant an employment of Radical lips that it is natural they should continue the practice now, when they have so much reason.

The Radical party resembles Haman who built a gallows fifty cubits in height and found at last that he had to swing from it himself. Vaulting revenge has "o'erleaped itself and fallen on t'other side." This impeachment, which was to have removed an obstacle and an enemy, will in the event disintegrate and destroy the Republican party. The maledictions which are heaped upon Chief-Justice Chase, and upon such Senators as Fessenden, Trumbull, Sherman, Grimes, and Henderson, will render it impossible that they, and the millions of Republicans who respect and honor them, should ever again act with the party from which they are to be ostracized."

The Philadelphia Inquirer says:

"By our despatches this morning, it will be seen that there is little, if any, hope that the impeachment of the President will prove successful. In the Senate yesterday, several members expressed their opinions against conviction on every article, who it was believed would vote for it on one or more. These Senators were all elected as Republicans, and as such they voted but a short time since, that Mr. Johnson had no right to remove Mr. Stanton. Now, however, they appear to think differently, a change having evidently come over the spirit of their dream. What has caused the marvelous somersault may or may not ever come to light."

The New York Sun's correspondent says of Senator Trumbull:

"Mr. Trumbull, who had sat sullenly quiet in his chair all day, and who assured your correspondent an hour previously that he would not speak to-day, rose and stated to the Senate that had this case been before any ordinary justice of the peace, it would have long ago been dismissed, as Mr. Stanton was not removed, and Gen. Thomas was not Secretary of War. Then he proceeded to whine out his complaints about every article, and the Senate extended his time to let him finish his essay, which was prepared several weeks ago. He nauseated nearly all the Republicans, by the out cropping of his enmity to impeachment and to the assaults upon Mr. Johnson."

The same correspondent gives the following pungent gossip:

"Old Thad Stevens keeps his messengers flying from his rooms, where he now lies quite worn out by his day's labor in the House. Among the members of the House there is but one feeling, that the case has been sold out, and that money is the great lever which is working in the Senate, is boldly charged. "It is a corrupt and wicked conspiracy," said Butler, "for has not the President known his men for days? Have not Senators prepared adverse opinions before hearing the case through? and if there was but an honest difference of opinion, why did they not let some of their old friends know of it, and why seek to so studiously create an impression among them that they were for conviction when they knew they would not do it?"

He also says:

"Immediately after adjournment this afternoon, Mr. Chase took into his carriage Senators Henderson, Johnson and Sprague, and in another which followed closely behind were Messrs. Grimes, Trumbull, Fessenden and Van Winkle. All went to the residence of Chief Justice Chase, where an elegant dinner was prepared, over which, it is said the formation of a new party was discussed, in which the President is to play a prominent part, and Mr. Chase to be a candidate for the presidency."

The Baltimore Gazette's correspondent, writing on Tuesday night, says:

"Before the House of Representatives was called to order this morning, the excitement in the Hall was very great, and the recreant Senators, as the impeachers called them, were freely anathematized, and Butler said they "had demoralized themselves to political damnation." Washburne, the special guardian of General Grant, remarked that "everything had gone to h—l." * * *

This morning it was evident that if a vote could be reached, the President would be acquitted by nearly a majority of the Senate. Twenty two Senators were admitted generally to be certain for acquittal, and several others were regarded as extremely doubtful. The screws were consequently instantly applied upon the assembling of the Senate, and the ultimate decision was postponed until Saturday next, when it will, in all likelihood, be further delayed! When it is considered that the President was denied sufficient time to prepare his defence, upon the lying plea that the exigencies of the country demanded a speedy settlement of the controversy—that the adopted rules of proceeding (palpably unjust to the defence) were sought to be justified upon the ground that the business relations of the country demanded the immediate legislation of Congress, and were suffering immeasurably from the incertitude inseparable from the prosecution itself—when it is further considered that the Senate was confined to a single day in discussing the grave points in dispute, the audacity of this movement cannot be sufficiently admired. * * *

It will be easily seen that the real motive of the postponement is (as stated) a thorough conviction on the part of the impeachers that they are powerless to convict, and desire "to be let down easily." They of course feel that their discomfiture will fall upon their partisans throughout the country like a wet blanket, and they dare not yet let loose their hounds upon such men as Fessenden, Trumbull, Grimes and Henderson. This must be the work of time, and if possible deferred until after the Chicago Convention shall have surrounded Grant with a halo of Radical glory, and these gentlemen shall have been committed to his support. They will then be unceremoniously given up to the assassins of character connected with their infamous journals!

But I am aware that other motives and hopes will be alleged to have inspired this cowardly "dodge." It is urged by Radicals at the Capitol that "time only and proper appliances are wanted to bring back certain Senators to the control of the leading impeachers." To the eternal credit of the four Senators to whom I have just alluded, their names are in nowise mixed up with this disgraceful suggestion. They, at least, are fairly admitted to be far beyond the threats or blandishments or corruptions of the unscrupulous men who yet rule the Senate.

It is proper also that I should mention that certain desperate political gamblers openly advocate the admission of a sufficient number of bogus Senators from the South to ensure conviction. And this monstrous proposition does not create surprise, much less indignation! I heard it to-day gravely argued that inasmuch as the whole of the testimony and argument, pro and con, was available in print to the new Senators, and that as the President had not appeared in person at the trial, &c., that they were as competent to judge of the merits of the controversy as if they had attended the Court during the whole progress of the cause. I need not say that I place no reliance in the report that such a course will even be attempted. I mention it to show the frenzy and despair of the Radical mind at this time in Washington."

The Bankrupt Act.

We have been requested to publish the Bankrupt Law. This is impossible. It makes a respectable volume. In order, however, that our readers may understand it, and may therefore not be liable to be imposed upon by parties, who are indifferent to the interests of others, we have taken some pains to compile from several sources the following general principles of the Act, for the benefit of all who contemplate seeking its benefits. But first of all, we advise our friends not to determine hastily what they will do, until they have had the counsel of a respectable and intelligent Attorney, upon whom they can rely.

1. The manifest design of the Bankrupt Law is to benefit honest, but unfortunate, debtors, whose just liabilities are greater than they can pay.

2. To become a voluntary bankrupt under this Act, the debtor must owe at least $300, which, of course, he is not able to pay in full.

3. Petitioners under the Bankrupt Act are required to render a schedule of all their debts and liabilities, of every kind and description whatever, and also an inventory of all their estate, both real and personal, including all property and effects of which they are possessed, or in which they may have an interest, (though not in possession) in conformity with certain "Forms" prescribed in the "General Orders" of the Supreme Court of the United States. These schedules, verified by the oath of the petitioner before a District Court Judge, Register in Bankruptcy, or U S Commissioner, must accompany the petition, and, when filed, is the commencement of proceedings in Bankruptcy. If it should be found out, pending the proceedings at any time before the bankrupt is discharged, that he has, by any shift or subterfuge, made a false or partial schedule, this would be evidence of fraud and would defeat his discharge.

4. When the petition is by a firm or copartnership, a full set of schedules of the respective estates of the members of the firm should also be added.

5. When the petition is filed, the case is immediately referred to a Register, who examines the petition and schedules annexed thereto, and if they are correct in form, makes a certificate to that effect, to be filed with the Clerk, then adjudges the debtor a Bankrupt and issues a warrant to the messenger to summon all the creditors named in the petitioner's schedules to meet at the Register's office, at a certain time and place, to prove their claims and elect one or more Assignees to take charge of the Bankrupt's estate.

6. A creditor can, however, prove his claim at any time previous to the first dividend, which will generally be six months subsequent to the adjudication of Bankruptcy.

7. No creditor has any standing in a Bankrupt Court until he proves his claim.

8. Creditors have no right to compel the Bankrupt to answer questions concerning the disposal of property by him acquired subsequent to filing a petition in Bankruptcy. "In other words, the date of the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, is the date at which, if adjudication of bankruptcy follows, the old order of things passes away and a new leaf is turned over." On this point decisions have been variant. The safe rule appears to be, that the applicant in Bankruptcy has a perfect right to claim whatever he has made after his application, by his personal exertions, but any profits he may have made, from investment or credit, may be liable to the claim of the receiver up to almost the period of his discharge.

9. The Bankrupt can apply to the Court at any time after the expiration of six months, and within one year from the adjudication, for the discharge in bankruptcy, and in case no assets come into the hands of the assignee, or no debts be proved against his estate, at any time after the expiration of sixty days.

10. As soon as an Assignee is elected or appointed, the Judge or Register will convey to him, by deed of assignment, all the bankrupt's property except what is exempted, viz: "Household and kitchen furniture and other necessaries not exceeding in value ($500) five hundred dollars; also his wearing apparel and that of his wife and children, and such other property not included in the foregoing as is exempt from levy and sale upon execution or other process by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt resides, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by State exemption laws in force in 1864. A safe Counsellor suggests, under this head, that the common impression that persons may become bankrupts and yet be allowed to retain their houses and lands, or other property of considerable value, is a great mistake. Under the Act, no honest Bankrupt in this State can have allotted to him, free from the operation of the Act, exceeding $700, besides the wearing apparel of himself and family. Bankrupts in this State are not entitled to homesteads under this Act.

11. It is the duty of the assignee, within twenty days after the assignment to him is made, to allot to the bankrupt such articles as are exempted, and file an inventory of the same with the value of each article so allotted, and creditors may make objections to the report of the Assignee at any time within twenty days after it is filed.

12. As to costs in bankruptcy proceedings, section 46 of the Bankrupt Act provides that the petitioner, before a warrant issues, shall deposit fifty dollars with the Register, or with the Clerk, to be delivered to the Register as a security for his fees. General order XXIX provides that the fees of the Register, Marshal and Clerk shall be prepaid or secured before they can be compelled to act. It is also provided by General order XXX, that where the debtor has no means, and can prove the fact to the satisfaction of the Court, upon application, an order will be made requiring all the costs in the case to be paid out of the fifty dollars deposited with the Register. If, however, there are assets, but not enough to pay the Messenger after deducting the Bankrupt's exempted property, so that nothing comes into the hands of the Assignee, the fees will have to be paid by the Bankrupt; but if the Assignee receives assets, the fees of the Messenger will be paid by him before any dividend is made among creditors.

13. Some suppose that the Register is entitled to $50 fee. The fees of the Register, Messenger, Clerk, and costs of publication of notices in Bankruptcy, are fixed by law, and if they demand higher fees, they are liable, as in other cases of malfeasance in office. In ordinary cases of Bankruptcy, the fees may amount to $100. In some cases more, in some less—the costs depending on the amount of labor and litigation involved in each case.

14. Differences of opinion among Attorneys have existed in this State, as to the limit which the Act makes as to the time to make application in Bankruptcy. Some have supposed that no debtor will be permitted to apply for Bankruptcy after some early day in March, unless he is able to pay fifty per cent of his debts. We are assured that this is not the case. The law did not go into operation for the purposes for which it was enacted until June 1st, 1867. It gives twelve months from that time, to all honest debtors, whatever may be the extent of their indebtedness which they cannot pay, in which to present their applications. After the 1st of June next, every debtor must be able to pay fifty per cent of his indebtedness in order to a successful application in bankruptcy, unless he first obtain the consent of a majority of his creditors.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

It is not in human nature to be perfect. No man has ever lived free from error, from fault or mistake, because impeccability cannot be an attribute of fallen humanity. Early Christian and polite training will polish the roughest specimen of human nature, to that degree, that manhood may not exhibit the gross forms of uncouthness, deformity or wickedness, but it is uncharitable for any one to demand of any man perfect symmetry of conduct and character, who has been reared in the lower walks of life, and without the advantages of high Christian education and training.

It is, therefore, perfectly plain, that a large class of people in this country have expected too much or demand too much of this class of men, who have been raised to high political position, either by the dint of their native energy of intellect or character, by the lucky turn of the wheel of fortune, or by their shrewdness or tact or policy. High position may improve a man or make him improve himself, but it can no more unmake a man, than it can make one.

The history of Andrew Johnson, the President of the United States, and still the President, in spite of the impeachers, has been a chequered one. With all his faults, the impartial historian will find few men, who, under the circumstances, have deserved better of their country and more of the forbearance and sympathy of their countrymen. In his early days, he may have been untowardly ambitious,—somewhat aspiring beyond the merit attached to his character. He may, in imitation of those around him, have played the demagogue and been a shrewd dealer in the intrigues of party, yet no man can truthfully say of him, that through weal or woe, in sunshine or shade, he ever betrayed his sworn pledges,—that, at any time, he has not been a true patriot, and an unflinching defender and supporter of the Constitution of the United States, as he understands it.

Unexpectedly called to the Chief Magistracy of this great nation, at a time and under circumstances more trying and difficult than at any period of its history, his strong rough intellect reeled and trembled under the immense responsibilities and cares imposed upon him. We have thought that full three months elapsed, after he had taken his oath of office, before he began fully to realize the tremendous responsibility he had assumed. But since then, while mistakes or blunders may be charged against him, (for who does not err, and who would have made no blunders placed in his intricate position?) we defy the most rigid scrutiny among fair minded men, to point out an instance in which his integrity, his patriotism, his devotion to the Constitution and to the future weal of his country can be successfully assailed.

The virulent hate, the unmitigated persecution, the extraordinary spleen and abuse, which have been heaped upon him by the Radicals, know no equal in history, and are perfectly inexplicable, upon the supposition that there is a spark of patriotism, of charity or of honesty in his persecutors. His impeachers may succeed in satiating their vengeance upon him—his maligners and persecutors may blacken our history by the malice poured out upon him,—but, in after years, history will write down, and posterity will join in the acclaim, that Andrew Johnson was a true patriot, a bold defender of the Constitution, and that he desired to promote the well-being of his country.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

To-day is the time to which the Senate, sitting as a Court, adjourned the vote on Impeachment, but it seems to be generally conceded that the vote will not be taken. Mr. Howard will still be sick, or the unscrupulous majority, having now good reason to apprehend a favorable issue for the President and the cause of Truth and Right, will not allow such a verdict until after the Chicago Convention, for fear of the effect upon the harmony of the party.

If anything were lacking to exhibit the infamous malignity of this entire impeachment proceeding,—the deliberate corruption and premeditated perjury of the managers and manipulators of the plot,—it is furnished by the course of the majority in this matter of delaying the vote. When Mr. Johnson, through his counsel, asked the common boon and ordinary courtesy of a little time in which to file his plea and prepare for defence, it was refused him, on the ground, we presume, that expedition was important for the country. Expedition to convict, in advance of testimony or argument, and in the teeth of the oath to hear and try impartially, was what was meant. Now that it is known that there are perhaps a sufficient number of Senators, who will not surrender their consciences to the demon of party hate and lust, by voting for conviction,—who will not so prostitute their souls or their high place,—time ceases to be a matter of so much consequence. What ever way you take it, and whatever the issue, this corrupt and unprincipled party, in this whole business of impeachment, has so managed, that it will draw upon itself the full measure of popular scorn and indignation.

COLORED DEMOCRATS.—The Democratic Club of the Freedmen, of Columbia, S. C., numbers over ninety, and the cry is still they come.—Yorkville Enquirer.

We observe that quite a number of colored Democratic Clubs are being formed in South Carolina. There are some colored Democrats or Conservatives in North Carolina. Let them band together in clubs.

PLATO DURHAM.

We were not a little surprised, a day or two ago, to see the following reflection upon Mr. Durham's course in the late Convention, in the Charlotte Democrat:

"Mr. Durham's course in the Convention caused the Radicals and Republicans to make the Constitution a great deal worse than they were at first disposed to do."

We differ very materially from the Democrat in reference to the effect of Mr. Durham's course upon the late Convention.—Being on the spot, we are, perhaps, a little better prepared to judge, than our cotemporary.

We have met with few young men of his age, so cool, so ingenuous to an opponent, and so firm when he has fixed upon his course, as Mr. Durham. Older men might have been more polite, more shrewd, and perhaps more troublesome to opponents, but none could have been more frank or more honest. It is unfair to judge Mr. Durham's purpose and course, by the exhibitions of temper which he evinced on several occasions, under the most aggravated provocations. They were deviations from his main purpose, and were at least palliated, if not necessitated, by the conduct of the Radicals. Young as he was, the force of his character, the frankness yet boldness of his manner, and the power of his argument, secured the consideration of the more intelligent of his opponents, while they made him the object of fear and hate among the ignorant and vicious.

As to the character of the new Constitution, we do not believe it was changed an iota, for the worse, by the course of Mr. Durham and his fellow Conservatives. The entire scheme seemed to have been planned and prepared in advance. The main reports, as they were presented at first by the majority of the several committees, were but slightly modified, when adopted. We recollect no instance in which they were modified for the worse, but in some instances, perhaps, they were rendered less objectionable, by the opposition of the Conservatives. As to the great and more offensive principles running through the entire Constitution, they remained unaltered.

There was a pretty strong minority of the Radicals in favor of disfranchisement. We believed, at one time, that they would carry their point, and, but for the advice of the Radicals in Congress, the fear that it would secure the defeat of the Constitution, already odious enough without that feature, and, perhaps, the determined character of the opposition kept up by the Conservatives, that feature would have been incorporated.

We regard, therefore, the censure by the Democrat, of Mr. Durham, and, through him, of his fellow Conservatives, as wholly undeserved and uncalled for. The complimentary notices of Mr. Durham, Mr. Graham, Dr. Ellis, Mr. Hodnett, Dr. Holt, and the other Conservatives, which have been bestowed upon them by the Conservatives of the State, were well merited. They are true men, and, knowing their rights, they dared to defend them and the rights of the people.

THE "TROOLY LOIL."

Every influence that can be brought to bear is being used to help on impeachment. Among these instrumentalities are "the Southern loyalists." They are said to be on the ground in great force. The immaculate patriots have just held a meeting in Washington, and have sent in a fervent prayer to the Senate, "to save them from the cruel and remorseless revenge of Andrew Johnson and his rebel hordes."

One would suppose that these injured patriots, having obtained a monopoly of all the spoils and offices in the South, would cease their false, senseless, and contemptible twaddle about persecution, and all that sort of thing. Col. J. T. Deweese, for example, was the Secretary of the meeting above referred to. Is he not satisfied with having been elected a member of Congress, from a State where "rebels" are so "cruel and remorseless," according to these Southern loyalists, that a good Union man dare not show himself? Is it not enough that he should have been literally shingled over with fat offices? If it be persecution, &c., that have sent him to Congress, and otherwise honored him beyond his merits, he ought to be very thankful to persecution for promoting him beyond what could have been his wildest dreams, before he came to live among the "rebel hordes" and to bless them and the country with his presence!

Southern Loyalists! There is no word in the language which has been more perverted, and which has become more nauseating, on account of that perversion, than this word "loyal." If "loyalty" meant simply the fulfilment of the real duties of the citizen, no one would reject its application. But when it is interpreted to mean, in one part of the country, a certain set of political opinions, and, in another part of the country, identification with an odious and tyrannical system, and with a mean and despicable faction, it becomes a term of reproach.

SOUTHERN METHODIST BISHOPS.—Rev. Bishops Pierce, Kavanaugh, Doggett, Wightman, McTyiere, and Marvin assembled in the "Bishop's meeting" last week at Louisville, Kentucky. Bishops Andews, Early and Paine were prevented by age and infirmity from attending. Other prominent ministers, Drs. Green, Sehon, McFerrin, Smith, Taylor, et ect., were present. The Missionary Board was located permanently at Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Sehon resigned the office of Secretary and Rev. W. G. E. Cunnigham was appointed. Much has been done towards rebuilding churches, forming the colored churches and preachers into Conferences. Only $50,000 was raised for Missions the past year, not a tenth of what is needed.

SPEAKING of the expulsion of three members of the Baltimore Council for corruption in taking bribes, the Sun says:

"If a rule like that of the Baltimore council were honestly applied to the radical House of Representatives, there would not be a quorum to do business, if the declarations of leaders like Washburne have any truth whatever."

DEATH OF HON. JOHN A. GILMER.

We announce, with sincere regret, the death of the Hon. Jno. A. Gilmer, of Guilford, which occurred at his residence, in Greensboro', on Thursday morning.

For the last two years, Mr. Gilmer, on account of failing health, had been withdrawn from the public notice and from public concerns. Prior to that time, few men in the State had filled a larger measure of usefulness. He had adorned the Profession of the Law, of which he was a distinguished member, had represented, with distinction and ability, his county in both branches of the State Legislature, and his District in the Congress both of the United and Confederate States. He was an honest, reflecting patriot, a gentleman of enlarged political views and comprehensive intellect, and an open, frank and manly opponent, where he differed from others in sentiment. He was self-made, and self-reliant, and, as such, made a name for himself of which his descendants may be justly proud.

Few kinder hearts ever beat than Jno. A. Gilmer's. Liberal as a Prince, charitable even beyond the scope of his once ample means, accommodating, urbane, and affable to all, his name had become, where he was known, the synonym for all generous qualities. He leaves behind him few nobler types of our good old fashioned North Carolina gentlemen.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN HAYWOOD.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the white men of Haywood assembled in Waynesville, on the 5th inst., to take into consideration the means for a more thorough organization of their party, and, also, for sending delegates to the District Convention which was advised to be held at Asheville on the 30th of May; also, delegates to a State Convention, which it is proposed to assemble at Raleigh on the 13th June, proximo.

On assembling of the people, Augustus C. Hargrove was called to the chair and R. H. Dabney requested to act as Secretary.

On motion of Col. R. G. A. Love, a committee of seven was appointed to report suitable resolutions for the consideration of the meeting. The following named gentlemen having been selected, viz: R H Penland, Esq., Maj W M Rhea, Col R G A Love, Capt James Ownesby, D C Howell, Esq., and Capt Hiram Rogers, who, retiring for a short time, reported through their chairman, Col R G A Love, the resolutions, which are:

Resolved, That we respectfully recommend the holding of a Convention at Asheville on the 30th May, to appoint delegates from this Congressional District to represent the Democratic party of the District in the National Democratic Convention to be held on the 4th day of July next, in the City of New York, and that our friends in the counties of the district be requested to appoint delegates to said Convention at as early a day as possible.

Resolved, That all the elements of opposition to the Radical negro party, by whatsoever name known, must naturally and necessarily co-operate and affiliate with the Democratic party No th—that being the only national party which now pretends to respect the powers of the Constitution or to maintain the integrity of the Government framed by our fathers. Therefore we respectfully suggest, in order to perfect our organization for the approaching Presidential election, that a State Convention of the Democratic party, and of the organizations hostile to the perpetuation of Radical negro supremacy in the land, be called to meet in the city of Raleigh on the 18th day June, proximo.

Resolved, That the chairman of the meeting appoint ten delegates to each Convention, one of which to be held at Asheville, the other at Raleigh.

The above resolutions having been read to the meeting by the Secretary, were unanimously adopted.

Col. Cocke being present was loudly called for, to which he responded in his usual happy strain, endorsing the above.—The gentleman paid a scathing blow to the Radicals and brought many a tear to the eyes of the eager crowd.

Maj. Erwin then addressed the people in his usual sarcastic style, dealing blows heavy and thick against the negro loving party.

W. Levi Love, the Senator elect from this district, having been called, addressed the meeting for some time, in a very able and impressive speech.

Our old friend, Joseph Keener, of Jackson, was called for and on reaching the stand paid a severe rebuke to the Carpet Baggers.

Col. Joseph R. Love, of Jackson, next addressed the eager populace.

Seldom, Messrs. Editors, have we seen displayed in Haywood such enthusiasm.—When the Presidential election shall pass off, you will hear a good account from this part of the West.

The time for intermission having nearly expired, the chairman then proceeded to the selection of delegates to the said Conventions.

The following were selected to the State Convention: H P Welch, Walter Brown, J C L Gudger, Thomas J Lenoir, W J Wilson, D C Howell, J M Tate, W C Hill, Hiram Rogers and Burton Smathers.

The following were selected to the District Convention: J L Love, Jeremiah Radcliffe, Jr., Hiram Rogers, James L Duckit, B B Edmonston, A J Long, David Platt and H P Haynes.

It was ordered that the proceedings be sent to the Asheville News, Raleigh Sentinel and Wilmington Journal.

The meeting then adjourned.

A. C. HARGROVE, Chm'n.
R. H. DABNEY, Sec'y.

We know there are a few colored men, and a few Northern men among us who are Conservatives, so-called. Such persons have reached a depth of political degradation more easily imagined than described. There were Arnolds and Burrs in the olden time, and the breed seems not entirely to have run out.—Standard.

Verily, "the breed seems not entirely to have run out." There are men in North Carolina who once buzzed for the policy of President Johnson—aided to re-organize the State government on a white basis—proclaimed themselves to be unalterably opposed to negro suffrage as a conspicuous Union landmark, and afterwards plotted for the overthrow of the government which they had aided in organizing because they were not permitted to hold the offices under it. Truly may it be said, "the breed seems not entirely to have run out.—Old North State.

The La Crosse Democrat is really working in the interest of the Radicals by making the support of such Democracy as it professes too manifestly hopeless, sburd and disgusting for decent men to swallow.—N. Y. Ottices.

We are afraid that there is much truth in the above sentence.

The status of the South Carolina Legislature as to color is as follows: House of Representatives—whites, 44; colored, 80—Senate—whites, 20; colored, 12.

SCENES IN THE "COURT-ROOM."

The scene at the conclusion of Manager Bingham's speech for the prosecution was briefly referred to by the telegraph, but the following account from the correspondence of the Chicago Times is well worth the space it occupies. He says:

"While the noise was at its loudest, the Chief Justice, in angry tone, ordered the Sergeant-at-arms to clear the galleries, but it was manifest that without the consent of the offenders the orders could not be executed. A few cried out, "He can't do it."—"He hasn't got men enough." "We won't go out," and other indications that they meant what they said, and were determined not to be put out.

The doorkeeper attempted to enforce the order by announcing it, but they were very slow to move.

The Senators beginning to get alarmed, for really the scene began to smack of the French revolution, when the crowd used to overawe the National Assembly, Mr. Grimes angrily asked, after surveying the scene, why the order was not enforced forthwith, to which the Chief Justice, who seemed to be getting quite nervous, explained that the order would be enforced.

A volley of hisses for Grimes came next, and that, too, from the most respectable part of the galleries. Many a fine dressed lady contributed to them. An attempt was made to get up a more violent insult in the way of a loud "sssh," and some hooting was heard, such as the rabble sometimes deal out to stump speakers they don't like.

Trumbull quickly came to the relief of Grimes, with a motion that the offenders be arrested, as well as the galleries cleared.

"I would like to see you do it," shouted several of the retiring applauders in reply.

The galleries were by this time about half cleared, but not because of the order of the Chief Justice. It had got out that the court was about to retire or adjourn, and those who had left had done so under this impression. Suddenly a few cried out: "Hold on! they ain't going to adjourn; let us see the thing out." Then came a halt, and hundreds took their seats again, with the utmost unconcern, and totally indifferent to the order of their ejection.

Mr. Cameron, amid the din and confusion, rose to hope that the galleries would not be cleared. He did not believe it fair to punish all for the offences of some, and hoped none but those who had made the demonstration would be put out.

Fessenden and Johnson sharply called Cameron to order, and insisted that the clearance be proceeded with, at which there was another volley of hisses and a few more hootings, and the scene looked more revolutionary than ever.

Meantime, in the corridors, a few hundred of the ejected had formed into a crowd, and commenced singing: "Old Grimes is dead, that poor old soul." They were joined by the ladies with great glee. Between the verses the Iowa Senator was liberally and maliciously cursed and damned as a traitor and a copperhead. One man attempted to make a speech against Grimes, and the other renegades, but the tumult was too great for him, and all around him were too much interested in the song, which was thought to be peculiarly appropriate and piquant. "Will the ladies help us sing?" said one. "Certainly they will," said another; and so they did.

While this extraordinary scene was taking place in the corridors and within the hearing of the high court of impeachment, Senators were wondering what still kept the galleries at least half full. Sherman attempted to solve the mystery by suggesting to the Chief Justice that perhaps those who remained in the galleries did not understand the nature of the order.

The Chief Justice repeated the order for their benefit, and again instructed the Sergeant-at-arms to enforce it, which he, with the aid of all the capitol employes he could find, proceeded at once to do.

Finally, all were cleared but the reporter's and the diplomatic gallery. The occupants of these thought themselves exempt from the rule. The Sergeant-at-arms quickly dispersed these by sending the posse to eject them. The British Minister at first remonstrated, then went out to find the Sergeant-at-arms, and then again tried to secure the interposition of Mr. Sumner, but all to no purpose. He and all his choice company of distinguished foreigners had to leave."

SERMON TO YOUNG MEN.—At the solicitation of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Rev. Dr. Mason will preach the next, (the Fourth,) sermon in the series to young men, on Sabbath evening next, May 17th., at 8 o'clock, at the Episcopal Church.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.—Bear in mind that the sale of valuable real estate in the town of Graham, by A. T. Jerkins, Esq., Administrator of Dr. S. E. Chapman, deceased, will take place on Tuesday next, the 19th. instant. This offers a fine opportunity for investment.

SUPERSTITIOUS.—The Buffalo (N. Y.) Gazette is responsible for the following "fish story." It has about as much foundation as the ten thousand other falsehoods told at the North of Southern people. Thus it is that the two sections are kept asunder in feeling and interest by the thousands of lies that are written North by carpet-bag hirelings and Southern loyalists. Negroes are superstitious and ignorant, but few would believe the following story:

"The negroes of Guilford, N. C., have a strange tale of a man who went fishing near that place a few weeks ago. They say he has been sitting for several weeks, with a pole in his hand, and cannot be got off. At every effort to remove him, he cries out with pain, and blood gushes out of the stone.—When his friends attempt to take the pole from him his hands bleed, and in this horrible condition he sits fishing day by day."

REASONABLY CERTAIN.—The National Intelligencer of Wednesday says that "the failure of the scheme of impeachment and removal of the Chief Magistrate may be set down as reasonably certain."

FORNEY'S reason for resigning is said to be that he may be at liberty to villify those Senators who are honest enough to vote against impeachment. Fine scruples for a wretch who conspired against the honor of a woman!

VALUABLE.—The Long Island Historical Society has lately come into possession of the letters and correspondence of Henry Laurens, of South Carolina, who rendered important aid to our country in the period of the Revolution, and was President of the Continental Congress from 1776 to 1788. This rare and valuable collection is the gift of a few gentlemen in Brooklyn.

So says a Northern exchange. How did these "few gentlemen of Brooklyn" come into possession of the letters and correspondence of Henry Laurens, of South Carolina? It may be all right, but a good many things that belong properly to Southern people, have of late years "come into possession" of people in the North, in a manner that is far from creditable to the present possessors. —N. C. Presbyterian.

It is amusing to see good old Whigs like Messrs. Pell, Gales, Graham and Oance, looking with interest and hope to the Democratic party for aid. And yet those gentlemen preach such long sermons on the inconsistency of others.—Standard.

And more amusing still—most amusing of all, to hear old Democrats like W. W. Holden, R. P. Dick, Thos. Settle, William B. Rodman, Edward Cantwell, W. M. Coleman, John V. Sherward, and others of the same stripe, denouncing old Whigs for standing to their principles regardless of party name, and praying for the destruction of the Democratic party to subserve their own selfish purposes regardless of the interests of their country.—Old North State.

Olivia Forney says that the Great West nourished Wade on her (the West's, not Olivia's,) broad bosom. This would imply that Wade was brought up on milk. He doesn't look like it.

STATE ITEMS.

We learn from the Wilmington Journal that the good people of that town have had a practical illustration of social equality,—the legitimate result of Radical teachings. A white female rode through the streets, shopping on horse back, escorted by a greasy, black negro, whose attentions were assiduous and apparently by no means displeasing. What next?

The Norfolk Journal says that Messrs. J. B. Hunter & Co., Commission Merchants, of Portsmouth, sold, on Wednesday, a car-load of red oak staves at $44 per thousand, and, when inspected, there were only twenty-nine cast of culls, in the whole lot. They were shipped by Mr. J. A. Hartsfield, of this county, and are believed to be the best lot of staves received in Portsmouth since the war. The Journal adds:

"We are informed by Captain Hunter that there are large lots of this timber in Middle and Western North Carolina, and if the same care and attention are generally paid to getting staves that Mr. Hartsfield takes, the business will soon become very profitable in that section."

Subscriptions are being circulated in Wilmington, with the intention of raising a sufficient amount of money to enable the Memorial Association not only to place a suitable fence around the Memorial lot, in the Cemetery, but eventually to erect an appropriate monument."

Speaking of Mr. Goodloe's letter to Senator Sumner, the Washington Express correctly says of Mr. G, that he is "a fair minded and honorable gentleman, who has at heart the best interests of the country."—By the way, the following is a life-like picture from the letter referred to:

"I regret to say, also, that they (the negroes) elected quite a number of their own race to the late Convention, and again to the Legislature, most of whom could not stand an examination before a Massachusetts Committee empowered to ascertain the educational qualification of voters. Men have been elected as judges of the Circuit Court who obtained their licenses to practice law within six months past. One of the "judges" is said never to have been licensed as a lawyer, and others, on account of character and qualifications, would be regarded as presumptuous if they should aspire to the office of Justice of the Peace in a well ordered and enlightened community. Still others, of both races, have been elected to office who have been either convicted of or indicted for murder and other infamous crimes.—The number of felonious aspirants for office, with their success and failure, would form a curious statistical inquiry. The vindictive partisan may exclaim that the rule of such men will be good enough for rebels; but the statesman, whose reputation for all time will rest upon the wisdom and success of his measures, must act on more generous principles if he would have his name held in honor by future generations."

More rows on Green Street during the past week. We wish the authorities would take some steps to break this den up, as there is scarcely a day passes, but what our citizens are annoyed by either boisterous and obscene talk or cursing and fighting.—Greensboro' Times.

More rows among the freedmen and women, on Green st. They are so common we have quit enquiring for particulars.—Ibid.

Is that the neighborhood in which Judge Tourgee resides, neighbor Times? From what we have heard, we suppose the Judge must live or board in that portion of the heritage.

Some "unreconstructed cuss" broke into the supply store of the Freedmen's Bureau, last Tuesday night, and stole a quantity of meat, amount not known.—Greensborough Times.

Was it not, rather, a receiver of the alms of the Bureau? We judge he concluded it was not stealing, for "ole massa's nigger to take ole massa's pig."

The Commencement exercises of the North Carolina College, at Mt. Pleasant, will take place on the 27th and 28th of the present month. R. P. Waring, Esq., of Charlotte, will deliver the address on the 28th.

[COMMUNICATED.]

See, in another column, the twenty-second annual statement of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. The assets at that date were $18,148,621.74; being an increase of $4,321,781.80 during the year. This remarkable addition, within the space of twelve months, to an accumulation of funds already very large, demonstrates forcibly the high degree of popularity which the system of Life Assurance, as practiced by this Company, has attained; and is the very best argument that could be used in favor of its soundness and utility. That this increase of assets is not the result of a spasmodic effort entailing an extensive outlay, but the natural effect resulting from previous business and from the perfect working of the machinery with which it is conducted, is well worthy of notice. The entire cost of managing the business of this Company during the past year, including officers' salaries, agents' commissions, medical examiners' fees, etc., amounted to $835,433.16, which is less than twenty per cent. of the increase of assets, and only about four per cent. of the nett income. The premium income of the Company for the year reached the handsome sum of $6,284,695.17, and the income from interest on funds invested amounted to $1,246,191.72.

The latter sum was sufficient to pay the entire losses of the Company for that period, and earn a surplus of $82,181,72. This may be explained by the circumstance of a large portion of the assets being invested in the West, where high rates of interest prevail. The Connecticut Mutual Life has been in existence just twenty two years, and, during this time, it has paid losses amounting to seven millions of dollars, and, although its rates for insurance do not vary to any significant degree from those of other good Companies, yet it has, through superior management and rigid economy, returned to the insured, in the shape of dividends, more than four and a quarter millions of the premiums received. Thus, while it has succeeded in accumulating the enormous sum of eighteen millions of dollars, it has distributed among its members, in the payment of claims on policies and dividends, more than eleven millions. Twenty-six hundred and eighty death claims have been paid in all, and it is no more than fair to presume that, in the majority of cases, the sums paid by the Company were the only means provided for the sustenance of the families of the insured, and, in all probability, many of them were saved from a life of ignorance and crime.

Oh! think of this, you heads of families, and delay not, but insure your lives, while you are in good health.

Our Midnight Dispatches.

FROM WASHINGTON—CONGRESS AND OTHER MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, May 15, P. M.

Ultimate acquittal seems conceded to-day.

Many private dispatches to uncommitted Senators, from home sources, have been received, urging them to act according to their conscience and assuring them that the impeachment furor is artificial.

Replying to the Missouri delegation, Senator Henderson appears to have said, that conviction would have failed without, and could not have been secured with, his vote. In his opinion, the second Article would have been defeated by two, and the eleventh by four votes.

The Impeachers appear to have abandoned yesterday's project, whatever that may have been. They had no meeting to day.

A vote to-morrow is considered improbable.

Howard and Conkling are confined to their beds. Grimes is better. Morton is on the Street.

SENATE.—No session.

HOUSE.—The letter of the Missouri Congressional delegation to Senator Henderson was up as a question of privilege. Several Missouri Representatives said, that the objection in the able letter was written and the interviews obtained, at the instance of Henderson. Considerable excitement ensued, but the Speaker decided that it was not a privileged question and several members objecting to its present consideration.

The House proceeded with the regular order. Wilson was proceeding to explain a private bill, when Woodward the author of the resolution censuring the Missouri delegation, desired to know what the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Pile who was near him) meant by distorting his face. He was not accustomed to being talked to in grimaces and cabalistic signs.

The Speaker rapped the House to order and asked for what purpose the gentleman from Pennsylvania rose.

If it was a question of order the gentleman from Iowa could be taken off the floor but not otherwise.

Woodward desired to know what the signs and facial contortions of the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Pike) meant.

The manner in which they were made was more befitting the five points than this Hall.

The Speaker reminded Woodward that the last remark was not in order.

Woodward resuming, said:

"The gentleman had come towards him making cabalestic signs of this style. Putting his thumb towards his nose and gyrating his fingers, and he could not understand that language."

Pile disclaimed any intention of insult.

Woodward said, as the gentleman belonged to the party that claimed to possess all the morality of the country, (cries of order on the Republican side) he wanted to know what the signs meant.

Myers, of Pennsylvania, desired to know if the remarks of his colleague would go in the Globe uttered as they were, out of order.

The Speaker said that the gentleman had risen to a question of order and his remarks would go in the Globe.

Private bills were resumed and adjourned.

The Star says:

"There is a lull in the impeachment excitement partly from the impression that the question will not be taken to-morrow.

Some of the Managers favor postponement while others it is known are in favor of disposing for once and for all a question that is now only serving to weaken, to distract the Republican party.

Some leading Republicans believe that it will be policy to get wholly rid of the impeachment matter as a feature of the coming Presidential canvass, and to move on to a fresh field and pastures new, where all training under the Republican standard can rally on a common issue.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING IN GRANVILLE.

Pursuant to previous notice, a large and respectable number of the Conservative citizens of Granville met in the Court House at Oxford, on Saturday, the 9th. inst., when, upon motion of Maj. James T. Littlejohn, John F. Harris Esq., was called to the Chair, and on motion of Dr. Willis Lewis, John C. Russell, Esq., was appointed Secretary.

Col. James S. Amis explained the object of the meeting in an appropriate and impressive manner, when, upon his motion, a Committee of 13, consisting of J. S. Amis, W. H. Jenkins, H. E. Coleman, J. T. Littlejohn, W. H. Young, J. R. Duty, Thomas Clements, W. B. Crews, Dr. J. W. Booth, W. T. Hunt, John Cannady, and Dr. B. L. Cole, was appointed, to report resolutions for the consideration of the meeting.

The Committee, after consultation, reported, through Maj. J. T. Littlejohn, the following Preamble and Resolutions:

WHEREAS: Suffrage is a privilege, not a natural right—a political trust conferred on the individual for the benefit of the State—under our form of government the right to regulate suffrage belongs exclusively to the States: Therefore Resolved, 1st., That Congress has no power conferred on it by the Constitution to regulate or in any way to interfere with the right of suffrage within the States.

Resolved, 2d., That the acts of Congress, commonly known as the Reconstruction Acts, were passed without lawful authority, are in palpable violation of the Constitution and a flagrant usurpation of power.

Resolved, 3d., That the instrument recently submitted under the provisions of said acts for the Constitution of the State is the illegitimate off-spring of a spurious body, tracing its paternity to said acts; and that the same, in its inception, formation, completion and ratification, is utterly subversive of a Republican form of government.

Resolved, 4th., That the Congress of the United States has recognized this State, and the other Southern States, as States, and the right to regulate suffrage as belonging solely to them as States, by submitting for their consideration an amendment to the Federal Constitution known as the 14th article, or more commonly called the Howard Amendment. And that the Republican party of the country and of this State in a particular manner (by a published address from the pen of Gov. Holden, issued from their meeting of the 20th of September, 1866,) have fully recognized the existence of the States as States, and the question of suffrage as belonging "wholly and solely with the States."

Resolved, 5th., That the Government of the State of North Carolina should not be yielded to the claims of any authority, unless supported and sanctioned by the constitution and laws made in pursuance thereof, except under solemn protest, and appeal to the Supreme Judiciary of the country.

Resolved, 6th, That sincerely renewing our attachment to the Constitution of our fathers and all lawful authority thereunder, we deem it our duty to perfect a more thorough organization for the support of the same; and, to that end, we propose that seven persons be appointed by the chairman, as an Executive Committee for the County, and that said Committee be authorized to appoint, in each district, a committee of five to co-operate with them, with the view of perfecting such plans of organization as will most effectually attain said purpose.

Upon motion of Dr. S. A. Williams, the vote was taken on the Preamble and Resolutions, seriatim, which resulted in their adoption; and then they were adopted as a whole, unanimously.

Under the 5th Resolution, the Chairman appointed the following persons to compose the Executive Committee, viz: J. S. Amis, J. T. Littlejohn, Dr. P. W. Young, W. H. Jenkins, T. B. Lyon, H. E. Coleman, S. S. Royster.

On motion, it was ordered that the proceedings of this meeting be sent to the Henderson Index and Raleigh Sentinel for publication.

On motion of Dr. W. Lewis, the meeting then adjourned.

JOHN F. HARRIS, Ch'm.

J. C. RUSSELL, Sec'y.

HON. NAT. BOYDEN.—This gentleman, who has been in Washington for several days, returned on yesterday evening. We learn from him that his name was among the two hundred whose disabilities have been removed by a vote of the House of Representatives, and that he will almost certainly be admitted to his seat with the other members of the delegation from this State.—Old North State.

[From the London Quarterly Review.]

SIR WALTER SCOTT'S FIRST LOVE.

For some time after he had begun to associate exclusively with the members of the Club and the Speculative Society, Scott continued to be careless, not to say slovenly, in his attire, as he used to be when a school boy and a writer's apprentice. All at once his habits changed in this respect, and he became a well dressed young man—a squire, as his companions pronounced him, of dames. He had fallen in love with a young lady whom he encountered at the church door, and conveyed to her home, sheltered from the rain by his own umbrella. His family and hers were not on any terms of intimacy. Mr. Scott happened, indeed, to be her father's solicitor; but the man of business did not pretend, probably did not desire, to be reckoned among the familiars of his client. Indeed, so honorably sensitive on that head was the writer, that he no sooner observed how matters were tending with the young people, than he considered himself bound to put the young lady's father on his guard. The warning was well received and made light of, and the acquaintance went on, more especially as young Scott made his way, as he soon afterwards did, into the set of which the young lady's brother was a member. Hence it came to pass he met the young lady frequently, not in Edinburgh, only, but in her own and other country houses, and that she, being addicted to poetry and romance, received him frankly and kindly as often as he came.

This sort of intimacy was kept up for years, throughout the whole interval, indeed, between 1792 and 1796; and Scott regarding it as he regarded all things else, through the medium of his own imagination, flattered himself that his passions were reciprocated. No word escaped him, however, to the lady herself, either in conversation or writing, indicative of the state of his own feelings. He resembled in this respect the most bashful of the bashful lovers described in his novels. He told his secret to many of his friends, and among others to Miss Cranstoun, afterward Countess of Purgstall, but to the object of his devotion he said nothing. It is worthy of remark, however, that neither the passion itself, nor the secrecy in which it was nourished, excited the slightest untoward influence over his character. As first love is apt to do with such as him, it deepened in him the poetic temperament; but it made him neither less industrious or less manly.

Thus far the tide of fortune may be said to have rolled with a steady current in Scott's favor. He was in fair practice at the bar, considering his age and standing. The advocates had appointed him one of the librarians. He was rapidly establishing a good name as a man of genius and great research. He was about to experience his first sorrow, and it was a bitter one. Encouraged in part by the success of his translation, in part by the partial assurances of his friend, Miss Cranstoun, he had made up his mind to tell her his tale of love; and finding himself under the same roof with the object of his affections, he besought her to give him her heart, and was rejected. She had no heart to give. Another had it in his keeping, and he was one of Walter's dearest friends. It would be ungenerous, if it were possible, to depict his feelings on that occasion.

This much, however, we are bound to say: that he over mastered them with a power of will which is marvelous; and carrying in his soul a grief which never died, he never allowed it—no, not even for a day—to stand between him and the manly exercise of his faculties. He quitted the house, made his way into Perthshire, and threw himself, with apparently increased zeal, into the researches which were to him at once business and recreation; while, strange to say, only one short poem by his hand survives to tell that such an incident ever befell him. There is, however, no doubt that there are traces of her in the heroines of the "Lay," "Rokeby," and "Red guantlet."

PAT AND THE ALPHABET.—The following rich scene occurred recently in one of our private schools:

"Ah Pat! Pat!" exclaimed the schoolmistress, to a thick headed urchin into whose muddy brain she was attempting to beat the alphabet—"I'm afraid you'll never learn anything. Now what's that letter, eh?"

"Sure I don't know, ma'am," replied Pat.

"I thought you'd recollect that."

"Why ma'am?"

"Because it has a dot over the top of it."

"Och, ma'am, I mind it well, I tho't it was a fly speck."

"Well, now remember, Pat, its I."

"You ma'am?"

"No, no—not U, but I."

"Not I, but you, ma'am—how's that?"

"Not I, but you, blockhead."

"Oh, yis, faith now I have it ma'am. You mean to say that not I, but you are a blockhead?"

"Fool!" exclaimed the pedagogue, almost bursting with rage.

"Oh, yis, ma'am. All right ma'am," exclaimed Pat.

THE DIFFERENCE.—A case was recently tried in one of our courts about the soundness of a horse, in which a clergyman, not conversant with such matter, appeared as witness. He was a little confused in giving his evidence, and a blustering lawyer who examined him at last exclaimed:

"Pray, sir, do you know the difference between a horse and a cow?"

"I acknowledge my ignorance," replied the witness. "I hardly know the difference between a horse and a cow, or a bully and a bull—only that a bull, I am told, has horns, and a bully (bowing with meek respect to the pettifogger) luckily for me has none."

"You can retire, sir," said the lawyer; "I've no more questions to ask you."

"Well, Elick, how's your brother Ike getting along these times?" "Oh, first rate; got a good start in the world; married a widow who had nine children."

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and, if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C., Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR,

ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.

By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

A BOOK FOR ALL SECTIONS AND ALL PARTIES.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens, from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire everywhere manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.

One in Memphis, Tenn., 106 subscribers in five days.

Send for Circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with Press notices of advance sheets, &c. Address
